Tables and finishes

honed

Finish makes the stone flat, smooth and matt, without any spot or scotch, the colour is darker than other finishing except the polished one, and stand out the structure, colour and texture of the stone . This finish used to be applied when stone can not be polished, as limestone or sandstone with a low grade of crystallinity. The honed is the first step previous to the polished. This finish used to be applied in compact and hard stones by abrasion processing as the polished.
